FITZSIMMONS IS STILL IN THE RING

He Surprises the Wise Ones by Knocking Out Ruhlin.

TERRIBLE SOLAR PLEXUS.

Bob Repeatedly Shook Gus from Head to Foot, and With a Right Hand Smash Put Him Out.

New York, Aug. 10.-Bob Fitzsimmons, ex-champion pugliist of the world, met Gus Ruhlin, the Akron giant, at the Twentieth Century club, Madison Square Garden, and won by knocking the Ohloan down and out in the sixth round.

Before the fight, and for some weeks past, there have been many reports to the effect that Fitzsimmons was too old to cope successfully with his younger opponent. It was argued that Fitzsiminons well-known knowledge of the game and his capability of hard hitting would not be able to counterbalance the youth and strength as well as the seconly-acquired ring tactics of the Ohio man. Tonight, however, all this has been changed. Fitzsimmons did the trick cleanly and cleverly. It was a flerce and bloody battle while it lasted, and at times it looked as if Rubia would get the better of the old-er man, but Fitzslmmons, at the propme, cut loose with his fearful body blows, which finally snuffed out the

Tonight, however, at the ringside, there was a flush of Ruhlin money, which forced the odds in Ruhin's favor at the rate of 100 to 80. This state of affairs did not last long, howver, and by the time the men put up their bands for the opening round, they were equal favorites at equal

FITZ IS VERY SHIFTY.

Fitz himself conceded about thirty-we pounds to Ruhlin, and this in itself was a serious handicap. But as the result showed. Fitz was equal to the task he had set himself against, and wen out with that terrible solar plexus blow, which, whenever it landed, shook Gus from head to foot.
From the word "Go" the men started in with hurricane-like force. Both were wilde at times, but Fitz was always the quicker to steady himself Ruhlin clinced a good deal, and for hree or four rounds was the aggressor te landed some hard straight lefts or Figs face, and swung his right to the b dy and head with fearful force. Sev-eral of these blows staggered Fitz, but of them landed on the mark, as Fitz was too shifty.

At times both missed swings with ther hand, but many of Ruhlin'e were odged in the cleverest manner. Fitz ease up and take refuge in

GUS WINCED WITH PAIN.

When Ruhlin's nose began to bleed from a left punch the sight of the blood memed to have a deterrent effect on im, and Fitz was quick to see this. In the first signs of weakness on Ruhs part. Fitz began his attack on the ody, and each blow which he landed here made Gus wince with pain. liz's handlers kept urging him to play of the solar plexus, but he tried it only coasionally. This was the beginning of the end that soon followed. Ruhlin, after taking nine seconds of the count, arose to his feet groggy from the effects of the blow. Fitz knew he had his man, and was seady for him. As soon as Ruhlin was ready for him. As soon as Rushin got up Fitz rushed, sending two lefts to the face, and then shot his right with fearful force to the point of Rushing Country of lin's jaw. Gus pitched forward as i struck with an ax, and fell on his facto the floor, where he was counted out, and had to be carried to his corner.

WILD SCENES ENACTED.

Wild scenes were then enacted in and Wild scenes were then enacted in and about the ring. It seemed as if everyone in the building wanted to greet the winner or sympathize with the loser, and the police had a busy quarter of an hour in getting the people out of the building. Fitz left the building five minutes after he had struck the ing five minutes after he had struck the winning blow, but it took Ruhlin tweive minutes to come around so he could walk to his dressing room. Fitz was a little bit dazed when he reached his dressing room on the Fourth avenue side of the garden, and asked some of those gathered about him if it was not the fifteenth round in which the fight was finished. He soon recovered his reason, and then indulged in a hearty laugh.

Fitz was first up, but Ruhlin met him with a right on the chest, and Fitz swing left and right to head, and they came to a clinch on the ropes. Gus tried a left to the head but fell short. Well," he said, "I'm an old fellow and a has-been, eh? Well, I guess I was good enough for Mr. Ruhlin, and he was not so bad, either. That was as tough a battle as ever I went through, but I am still good enough for a few more. Ruhlin is a good one, and with a little more experience he will about do. He bit me some scorching wallops, and although I did not realize it at the I can tell you he can punch a was very tired, but the further the bout went the more positive I felt that I could finish him. Towards the close Ruhlin grew very weak, and I knew I had only to steady myself a good fight, and I can give him noth-

A HARD AND FIERCE FIGHT. Ruhlin, when he reached his dressing room, was in a sort of trance, and it was a long time before he fully understood that he had been defeated. He was badl; bruised about the head, and both eyes were almost closed. He did not eare to talk, but managed to say: "I did the best I could, and no man can do more. Fitz whinned me, and that's all I can say about it." Billy Madden, Ruhlin's manager, delared that Gus' defeate was due to ver-training. James J. Corbett, who acted as one

James J. Corbett, who acted as one of Ruhlin's seconds, also declared that Ruhlin was over-trained.

"I know this," he said, "for he was with me during my preparations for my hout with Jeffries. After that Gus continued training for his battle with Sharkey, and worked even harder after that for his bout with Fitzsimmons, I was add him that he was doing too warned him that he was doing too much, but he imainged that he could stand it. BY ROUNDS, ROUND ONE.

The two men met in the center of the ring, both feinting. Fitz handed a light right on the ear and Ruhlin countered with a light left on the cheek. Ruhlin bored in, putting his left across the chest, sending Bob back on the ropes. Fitz broke ground and came to the center quickly. He fell short with left and right to body. Fitz then hooked left to chin and Gus came back with left and right to the chin. Fitz missed left and right to the chin. Fitz missed left and right swings to Fitz missed left and right swings to the head. Fitz bored in, but in a mix-up Gus beat him off to the ropes with left and right to the face. Ruhlin went at Bob with both hands to the head, cutting Fit'z left eye and Bob head, cutting states and the floor. As he got up Ruhlin, who did not hear the bell, swung on Fitz's face. Both seconds claimed a foul, but it was not allowed.

TWO. Gus staggered forward. Bob followed Gus staggered forward. Bob followed him. They exchanged left and right on each other's face. Fitz hooked his left to the nose, bringing blood, and another rapid mix-up followed. Bob bored in, but Gus met him with left and right to the face. Bob was fighting wildly. Fitz sent hard left to the body and followed with right and left to the body, which made Gus wobble to the body, which made Gus wobble and he clinched. Ruhlin sent a left to the face and repeatead the blow. Fliz shot his left to the ear and brought his right up to the body. A left folt put Gus off his feet. Ruhlin
